

GUTTED INTERIOR of the Planters Club, 159th and Wolf Road, bore evidence of three fires Wednesday night and Thursday morning of last week. The three separate fires are believed to be the work of an arsonist.

Takes Steps To Get Annexed Areas On Village Tax Rolls

Because all of the territory annexed to New Lenox in the past five or six years has not been known as such in the county clerk's office where tax rates are set, that village has been losing thousands of tax dollars a year, Trustee Evans Drotts reported at the meeting of the village board last week.

Drotts, who is chairman of the board's finance committee, said he has been going over the records at the court house for the past several weeks and finds that annexed property valued at least at half a million dollars is not listed as within the village limits. This means that the village is not getting taxes on that much property, and to go a step further, the owners of such property are getting by on a lower tax rate than their neighbors.

Steps are being taken by the village to correct this situation. Village Attorney William Penn is digging out all the annexation ordinances and Mayor Stanley Gilmore is preparing a master map on which all of the annexed areas will be shown.

Village Attorney Penn said that according to state law the only thing required of a village to do in getting an annexation recorded is to file a copy of the ordinance with the county recorder. No provision is made in the law as to how notice of the annexation is to get to the county clerk's office, or the assessor's office or the state department of revenue at Springfield.

Penn said that only recently did he become aware that if a municipality wanted to have its annexation moves on record in the county clerk's office where tax rates are established that a copy of the annexation ordinance must be filed there.

The city of Joliet, for example files a plat with its annexation ordinances. One copy of the ordinance goes to the recorder, as required by statute. One copy goes to the assessor; two copies go to the county clerk's office. One of the copies the clerk receives is forwarded to the state revenue office at Springfield. That is done so if any railroad property becomes a part of a municipality, the municipality will get its share of the taxes. The state revenue department fixed the valuation on railroad property.

Lockport follows a course similar to that of Joliet in the matter of annexations but a number of the smaller communities fail to notify the county clerk, that office reported, and as a consequence the annexed property is not included in the corporate limits.

For the county clerk's office to go thru the filings in the recorder's office each day and copy off annexation ordinances, the service of one or two additional clerks would be necessary, it was explained, and there is no provision in the law for this.

It has been suggested that the legislature amend the statutes concerning annexation so as to clarify the directions on recording.

At its meeting last week the

New Lenox village board adopted an ordinance annexing U.S. 30 from the Kirsten farm on the east to the westerly limits of the Lincolnway shopping center. The stretch is to be posted to avoid arguments over traffic control.

The board also adopted an ordinance rescinding the ordinance which annexed a subdivision started by Anthony Padzuikas, in the vicinity of the round barn east of New Lenox. The annexation ordinance was adopted subject to the developer posting a bond covering improvements of the streets. He has failed to do this, according to village officials, and Trustee Chester Bowman made the motion to rescind the ordinance. It was approved unanimously. The status of the parcel where the VFW is building a recreation center, including bowling lanes, is being studied.

Inasmuch as the village does not have an ordinance requiring sidewalks it disclaims any responsibility for repair or maintenance of any walks that are in use. Therefore, the request of Trinity Lutheran church that the village repair the walks at Cedar and Elm was denied. Effective next term, which will be the latter part of April the salary of the village clerk will be raised to $800 a year from the present $400.

Village Treasurer Hearn, Trustee Drotts and Trustee McGovney are to work out and present a record system to account for all payroll expenditures in a manner approved by best accounting practice. This system will go into effect on the first of the calendar year and, together with the purchase requisition scheme now in effect, will sharpen the control on village expenditures and make these easier to audit, it was pointed out.

St. Mary's Parish Begins New Building

Work on a combination building that will serve St. Mary's parish of Mokena as a hall, recreation center and storage quarters for the school busses, has been started and according to the pastor, the Rev. Cecil Koop, O.F.M., it is expected it will be under cover before winter sets in.

Completion of the building is scheduled for early spring.

Plans for the project were submitted to the village board at its meeting last week by Trustee Will Tuttle.

According to Father Cecil, the men of the parish will do the work so it is difficult to estimate the cost, but it was believed it would run to approximately $8,000.

The structure will have exterior walls of brick to match those in the other buildings. It will be 80 x 44, thus providing 3,520 square feet of floor space.

The building will be used as a play area by the youngsters in inclement weather and also serve as a meeting place for parish functions.

It is being built south of the school and the footings have been poured.

Warning Ticket To Fire Chief Starts Rhubarb

In going to a grass fire north of New Lenox the previous week Acting Fire Chief Otto Bormet received a warning ticket from Police Chief George Kennedy and as a result there was quite a rhubarb at the regular meeting of the village board on Wednesday night of last week.

The radar reading disclosed that the fire chief, piloting the inhalator rig north along Cedar road was doing 58 miles an hour when he passed Oakview school. There were some 60 children on the playground at the time. Chief Kennedy had the squad car in the school driveway.

Since when, Chief Bormet wanted to know, was the fire department required to observe speed regulations in responding to an alarm?

Village Trustee Eugene McGovney, who is also police commissioner, said that the speed was not at issue. The warning was issued, he declared, because Bormet passed other traffic on a hill, and that a teacher who was on the grounds at the time was prepared to substantiate Kennedy's charge.

Bormet denied that he passed on a hill.

"I can get witnesses who will testify to that and not firemen either," he said. "What I want to know is what are we supposed to do in going to a fire? Drive 20 miles an hour? Every minute counts you know if we are going to stop a fire."

McGovney said he wanted to see the fire department used in dispatch in getting to a blaze that he also expected the firemen to use care.

"The fact that you are going to a fire does not relieve you of responsibility driving carefully. On this occasion you were driving the inhalator rig. Now why was it so important for you to arrive first at a grass fire with an inhalator?"

Trustee Robert Randolph who is also a volunteer fireman, broke in at this point.

"You never know about a grass fire," he said. "It could be that three or four kids might be there—out in the middle of it..."

Another fireman came up with the suggestion that perhaps an old man might become worn out or short minded from fighting a grass fire before the department arrived and would need to be helped to his home, in which case a touch of oxygen would help.

Chief Bormet ignored the possible presence of small fry out in the middle of a grass fire or some elderly citizen exhausted by his efforts in fight-

"I have to get there," the chief said, "I am the leading man and I have to show my boys where to come in where they will do the most good."

Randolph again addressed McGovney:

"Didn't you say down here recently that you would get any fireman that ran a red light, or intersection, that the police had instructions to book them?"

"I said no such thing," McGovney said "I said that in responding to a fire call the men should remember they have a responsibility to the public and to proceed carefully when going thru a stop light or a intersection."

"Well, I'll tell you," retorted Randolph, "no policeman had better get in front of me to slow me down when I'm going to a fire. Because if he does I'll run him down."

"You'd be a sorry man," McGovney answered.

"Maybe I would," said Randolph, "but I'd do it."

McGovney told Bormet that he had heard complaints that the chief had run motorists off the road when he was going to a fire.

Bormet made a heated denial: "I never run anybody off the road," he declared. "When I start for a fire I take the middle of the road and any cars coming can get off."

He added that in his opinion he hadn't done anything wrong the day he got the warning ticket and 58 miles an hour wasn't anything to get excited about.

"The children were all on the school ground, they weren't in the road," he said. "Kennedy was the one who was wrong. When he heard me coming he should have been out clearing the way for me instead of sitting there in the car with that radar on and he shouldn't have given me any ticket. As a matter of fact he didn't have the guts to give me the ticket. He came to the fire and put the ticket under the windshield wiper."

After the incident Kennedy had said that he put the ticket on the windshield because he didn't know who was driving it, that he had only a fleeting glimpse of a man at the wheel.

Trustee Eugene Hunt said he would like to see the firemen who use their private cars in responding to alarms have some easily identified insignia or signal on the vehicles so other motorists could be warned.

"You know if you hit someone going thru an intersection or a stop light you would be responsible," he reminded them.

Randolph suggested that inasmuch as the village board uses the fire house for a meeting place without paying rent the least it could do for the firemen would be to censure Police Chief Kennedy.

The board did not respond. Mayor Stanley Gilmore said he thought that the best thing to do would be to forget it and that in the future if firemen or police had complaints to make about the conduct of either to take it up with the board.

Trustee Evans Drotts said he wanted to see firemen get to a blaze as soon as possible and for police to respond to emergencies with dispatch but he urged on both the necessity "to exercise due caution."

Fireman George Ellis, the last to speak, proposed an exchange of visits and discussion of problems between firemen and police.

"Both of us have problems and when we realize that and understand what the other fellow has to do we can cooperate and so best serve the public," he said. "This bickering is kid stuff, and the sooner we quit it and forget it the better off everyone will be, including the public that pays the bills."

Arsonist Hits Planters Club

Three more attempts to burn the Planters Club, 159th and Wolf road, Orland township, were made Wednesday night and Thursday morning of last week.

The exterior was damaged to some extent, but the interior was demolished.

On the first attempt, Sept. 10, two fires apparently were set, one in the attic at the south end of the building, and one in a stairway leading up from the basement at the north end of the building.

Firemen from Orland Park, Homer, Lockport and Mokena stopped the blaze before it could spread to the lower part of the building. There was extensive damage, however, from smoke and water.

On Wednesday night of last week an Orland volunteer firemen was passing by the club shortly before 8 o'clock and saw smoke. He turned in an alarm. Firemen found the doorway ablaze and evidence that oil had been thrown on the siding.

They remained at the scene until 11 o'clock before tapping out. A little after 2 o'clock another alarm came in, this one via the Homer fire district. This time the fire was blazing fiercely in the interior, despite the fact that the place was water soaked.

Firemen extinguished that fire only to be called back again at 5:10 a.m. when an employee of the Andrew Corporation, on his way to work, saw the place blazing.

Earlier Fire Chief Arthur Granat of Orland Park had called Cook county police and an arson squad was sent to the scene.

According to information obtainable, the person or persons who touched off the blaze around 8 p.m. used oil but on the next attempts a more highly flammable liquid was used and some containers were found which apparently were used in dashing the liquid on walls and furnishings before they were set afire.

Fire Chief Granat called in the fire marshal's office for investigation after the first fire in September. The fact that two fires were found then at widely divergent points made the chief believe that it was an arson case.

There is no doubt, according to investigators, that the fires have been deliberately set, the last three with the apparent intention of burning the place down.

Mrs. Florence Zuzzinoo of Chicago Heights, owner of the club, but not the building, is said to have carried about $35,000 in insurance on the contents of the club prior to the first fire but a few weeks before the blaze she had reduced the insurance to $15,000.

It was estimated that the smoke and water damage Sept. 24 would run to some $30,000. But any furnishings that were salvageable then were destroyed last week.

POSTING OF NOTICES marked the closing, temporarily at least, of the Planters Club on Wolf Road. A total of five fires believed deliberately set to the structure since Sept. 24 has virtually destroyed the contents and exterior of the club. Assisting with the posting of warning notices were Larry Keating and Bernard Sturmer, both of Orland Park, while Mrs. Florence Zuzzino of Chicago Heights, owner of the club, looks on.

Phony Tax Collectors Rob Orland Resident

Two men posing as internal revenue agents invaded the country home of Arthur Sievert, 65, on 179th st., about a mile west of U. S. 45 in Orland township, Wednesday night, Oct. 3, and made off with $60 in cash and two checks totaling $500.

The fake agents told Sievert they would be back last Friday for the balance of the $1,600 they claim he owed the government. Sievert called Cook county police Thursday morning from the home of a neighbor, the bandits having torn his telephone off the wall prior to departure the night previous.

One of the men sporting a walkie-talkie and apparently talking to the driver of the dark colored car in which they were traveling asked what should be done with Sievert in the event he was unable to raise the rest of the money by Friday.

"Throw him in jail," came the stern admonition.

Sievert said he didn't owe the government anything that he knew of but when the two men who invaded his home told him they were from the internal revenue department and wanted money he thought he'd better give them what he had. The men had him make out two checks, leaving the line for the name of the payee blank. One check was for $247 and the other was for $253. They also took a souvenir $5-Gold piece, a pistol and his pocket watch, and $60 in currency.

Mr. Sievert thought this was going a little far, even for tax collectors, and so called the Cook county police at Homewood.

One of the invaders flashed a badge, Sievert said, and claimed to be a deputy sheriff as well as an internal revenue agent. He described one of the men as about 5 feet 6 inches tall, with a ruddy complexion, and wearing a dark suit and hat. The other man was about six feet in height. Sievert said neither of the men subjected him to physical violence.

Lincoln-Way Stumbles Before Oak Lawn 20-14

By Randy Wheeler

Lincoln-Way Knights were edged out of the victory circle by one touchdown at Oak Lawn last Saturday, bowing 20-14. The Knights are now 0-2-1 in conference play.

Lincoln-Way won the pregame toss and elected to receive. Van DeLay caught the kickoff but was tackled before he could pick up any yardage.

Senior quarterback, Kurt Fredin, surprised the Spartans defense by throwing a quick pass to right-end Jim Nicholson on the first play for a six yard gain. Fredin showed his satisfaction with the play by calling it for a second time in the next huddle, and this time passed to the Knights' left end, Mike Hart. The pass was good for another six yards, but Hart broke away from the defensive linebackers to make the play a total of 17 yards, and the first Lincoln-Way first down. This initial drive was culminated when Tom Hamilton, sophomore halfback, broke into the Oak Lawn end zone for a Lincoln-Way TD.

The conversion was made by Van DeLay, giving the Knights a quick 7-0 lead. Kurt Fredin kicked off to the Spartans who began to gain yardage only to fumble. The Knights recovered the pigskin and went on to control the ball for the remainder of the quarter.

Oak Lawn struck back early in the second quarter. An 18-yard pass from the Spartans' quarterback, Fox, was received by Katszman who ran for a TD. The extra point was run by Feeney, evening the score at 7-all.

Before the Knights could pick up the following kickoff, a Spartan dove on it, gaining possession in Lincoln-Way territory. Shortly, the Spartans found themselves on the Knights 5-yard line. Quarterback Fox elected to try a sneak, and successfully infiltrated the Lincoln-Way end zone for the Spartans' second tally. The extra point attempt was booted through the uprights by Bochman.

Trailing by a score of 14-7, the Knights, however, didn't trail for long.

Late in the second quarter, L-W guard Ron Badten recovered a Spartan fumble and sprinted 88 yards for the second Lincoln-Way touchdown. Bill Wennlund took a handoff from Kurt Fredin and punched through the line, scoring the extra point and once again bringing the game into a dead-lock.

The score remained knotted until the end of the half, and it wasn't altered until mid-way in the third quarter when Oak Lawns' Koestlian completed a Spartan drive by carrying the ball the final yard for the Spartans third touchdown. The extra point attempt was smothered by the Knights.

The score at this point read Oak Lawn, 20--Lincoln-Way 14, and it remained that way through the rest of the third quarter.

Despite the fact that Lincoln-Way controlled the ball for 15 out of 22 plays in the fourth quarter, they were unable to score. The game ended with the Knights still battling for the decisive touchdown.

Lincoln-Way's next game will be their homecoming game Saturday, hosting the tough Sandburg Eagles. Not only will the Knights be fighting for a higher berth in the SWS finals, they will also be battling the favored Eagles for the Lincoln-Way -- Carl Sandburg traveling trophy.

Emergency Vehicles Have Problems

There was a discussion concerning emergency vehicles before the New Lenox village board last week. There is no intent on our part to join either side of that dispute but we believe the subject of the use of such conveyances is of some public interest.

While emergency vehicles are entitled to and given considerable latitude when actually in emergency use, the operators still have a responsibility to the public.

The star or badge worn by the driver is not a license to kill or injure anyone or to destroy property, nor do the red flasher light, or the blue light or the siren convey such privileges.

We don't believe anyone will quarrel with the assumption that in most cases when police or firemen are called there is need for hurry. Someone may be injured and a fast trip to a hospital is required; someone may have a heart attack and need an inhalator; someone may run amok with knife or gun; a home may be burning and persons trapped by the blaze; there may be burglars, or a holdup.

Whatever it is the victims want help fast. And they should have it. But if the emergency vehicle is wrecked enroute; if its driver or some other driver or occupant of a car is killed or injured, other tragedy may follow as a consequence.

In some municipalities emergency vehicles are under orders not to exceed certain speed limits in responding to calls. These limits may range from 35 to 50 miles an hour. It is difficult to control a car or truck weaving in and out of traffic at high speeds.

There are schools set up to train drivers of emergency vehicles but smaller communities rarely have the funds or the manpower to take advantage of them.

Volunteer firemen are under a considerable handicap. When an alarm comes in they are usually at their homes or place of employment. Few can get to the fire house in time to ride any of the rigs to the blaze so they use their own private automobiles to reach the scene of the blaze.

Volunteer firemen have a blue light in or on their cars as a means of identification but they don't help too much in clearing a way. So they must use caution in going thru an intersection or a red light. Otherwise they may clip someone or be clipped.

What some may not know is that the insurance policy that covers their car as a private vehicle does not provide any coverage when such car is being used as an emergency vehicle. Some insurance companies do not insure emergency vehicles or cars used as such. Where companies do accept such risks they issue a rider to the regular policy but at a much higher cost.

These volunteers receive no wages or salaries. Their only compensation is the satisfaction they receive in being a good neighbor. Police are paid but not commensurate with the risks everytime they go on a call.

The motoring public can show their appreciation of the acts of these public servants by giving emergency vehicle right-of-way. Upon hearing a siren or seeing a car with a red or blue light approaching, a motorist should pull over to his right as far as he can and stop. Too many drivers seem to freeze when they hear a siren, or become aware of the approach of an emergency vehicle, and slam on the brakes, halting where they are, which may be in the middle of the street or even an intersection.

Even worse there are those who give no heed to sirens or lights and go moping along without giving an inch either way.

A little cooperation among all the people involved would help a lot -- maybe even save a life or years of pain and suffering.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

The busiest busybodies among the federal bureaus appear to be the Department of Commerce, spearheaded by those in the bureau of census.

There may be busier bureaus at Washington but the census bureau when compared with its rival outfits is like the hen and the duck. When the hen lays an egg it advertises but the duck doesn't even stomp its foot.

The internal revenue boys manage to keep in print pretty well but the Department of Commerce and especially the census bureau is forever soliciting space.

Many folks think that the census bureau just counts people every 10 years and the workers sit around and do nothing for the intervening nine. It is possible they have assessed the situation correctly. We do not know. Our daily journeys do not include the national capital so we have no personal knowledge of how much boondoggling goes on in the census bureau, if any, but we must say from the mail we receive the census boys never sleep.

If the census bureau were to claim that it had people working around the clock we would not be surprised. It seems reasonable and logical that if one wants to get the real low down on how night workers eat, sleep, and deport themselves in general why one should go directly to them.

Burglars, muggers and some bandits ply their trades at night for the most part and it seems to us that if the department of commerce really wants to know what kind of breakfast food does the successful burglar like, or the toothpaste an up and coming mugger is most likely to purchase, the proper thing to do is send someone to talk to them while they are at work. The interviewer also would be able to check on their preferences as to tools, including weapons, in carrying on their professions.

Not a week goes by but that we get something from the census bureau that is supposed to be news. It is not really news. It is just the way the census bureau has for trying to protect its agents.

No doubt in the course of a year some census bureau worker asks the wrong question of the wrong person at the wrong time and before he can get his guard up or his identification card out he has received a bust in the snout.

So the census bureau showers the news papers and radio and TV stations of the land with notices that its workers are about to launch a or are in the midst of a campaign to get the low down on something or other. Like last week, for instance, the census bureau announced that its agents were going to spend the first 10 days of October collecting facts on food consumption. This was going on a 332 sampling areas.

The bureau wanted information about home consumption of five basic foods by Americans. Not for itself, it says, but for the U.S. public health service. The health service, it seems, is seeking facts or figures for making national estimates on consumption of selected foods "and relating them to the health and physical fitness of the American People."

The idea of letting the people know in advance that someone is coming around to ask such questions apparently is done on the hope that a busy housewife will take the time to answer the questions and not just close the door and say no-thank-you-we-aren't-having-any.

We don't know how the census bureau will make out with this project. In the first place what they call basic foods aren't basic. The foods covered in the survey are -- beef, white bread, lettuce, milk and apples.

Basic foods? Why everyone knows that the five basic foods in the American diet today are -- pizza, hamburgers, hot dogs, french fries and TV dinners. And there is nothing said about how or where the grub is eaten -- with tools or fingers and at table or from a tray in front of the television set?

Also to be collected in the October household survey is how much one is spending at the moment on painting, plumbing, heating and air conditioning, roofing, flooring and home repairs in general.

We aren't too concerned about how much is spent but we believe it would be interesting if the bureau could explain how one is to embark on such an expensive program -- and it would be expensive -- and still pay Uncle Sam the taxes he demands.

Democrats Conduct Annual Dinner-Dance At Orland Park

The regular Democratic organization of Orland township held its annual dinner-dance Saturday evening at Goodings Grove in Orland Park. An evening of dancing was enjoyed following the dinner.

An introduction of the dignitaries present was held at 10 p.m. Committeemen as well as township and village officials from the surrounding areas were presented to the audience, followed by addresses from the various candidates seeking posts in the Nov. 6 election.

The farmers of Cook county are proud to be represented on this committee, and we all know that John DeJong will do a good job as a part of the advisory committee.

CLOVER MITES INVADE
If tiny dark red--some are almost black--specks suddenly "take off," don't be alarmed. Chances are your tiny visitors are clover mites that are between molts or looking for food or shelter.

This time of the year you'll most commonly find clover mites on the window sills, baseboards and the doors. The mites usually overwinter under the bark of trees. But they may also choose concrete, brick and stone outside of buildings or cracks and crevices in the walls.

Clover mites feed on grass, clover and weeds in the lawn. They do not harm draperies, curtains, rugs or foodstuffs. Nor do they bite. But they are a nuisance to the more fastidious housekeeper.

To pick up clover mites in the house use a vacuum cleaner. Then treat infested areas, such as window sills, with an aerosol bomb containing pyrethrum, holding the nozzle about six inches from the treated surface. You'll have to repeat this treatment frequently unless you remove grass and weeds next to the foundation and plant an 18 inch strip to flowers such as zinnia, marigold, chrysanthemum, rose or salvia. These flowers don't attract clover mites. Then around the foundation, the wall up to the windows and the lawn extending out from the house, use a heavy spray of Aramite 15-W or chlorobenzilate 25-W at the rate of 8 pounds per 100 gallons of water. Use keltthane 18.5-W at the rate of 2 pounds per 100 gallons of water. If you don't have a sprayer, apply with a sprinkling can, using 1/4 pound to 3 gallons of water.

Plant your early-flowered bulbs now if you want to add a splash of color to your lawn and garden next spring. University of Illinois horticulturists say spring bulbs can be planted from now until the soil freezes. Planting now will give them a chance to get a quick start in the spring and help resist damage from heaving and exposure during spring thaws.

Illinois homeowners with Merion bluegrass in their lawns may be headed for trouble. Stem rust is building up in these lawns, causing reddish-brown or yellowish discoloring, reports University of Illinois plant pathologist M. P. Britton.

When examined closely, bluegrass leaves will show brick-red blisters. These are the spores--seed--of the fungus. If the rust infection is heavy enough to be noticeable, Britton suggests spraying with actionone according to label directions. The treatment should be repeated two or three times at 7- to 10-day intervals.

In addition to the fungicide treatment, Britton advises fertilizing enough to supply two pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet if the lawn hasn't been fertilized to that extent recently.

After fertilizing, water thoroughly.

Good management, including regular fertilization, watering when needed and regular mowing at a two-inch height will help to ward off stem rust and other lawn diseases. But once the rust hits Merion bluegrass lawns, only treating with actionone will lick it. After the grass has been treated, fertilized and watered, it will produce new growth free of rust.

L-W Classrooms Termed Critically Over-Crowded

PTA Hears Need For 10 More Rooms

Nearly 250 parents and interested citizens attended Lincoln-Way's Parent-Teacher group meeting held Oct. 3 in the school auditorium.

Special significance of this 1962-63 school year's opening meeting was to inform the taxpayers of District No. 210 of the over-crowded conditions existing at Lincoln-Way high school. Films taken during a school day and showing actual situations were shown to the audience, pointing up the emergency problems now confronting the administration, board of education, and faculty.

Situations presented included those showing inadequate classroom space for over-size classes, limited classes that once were offered to all students, hazardous hall and stairwell conditions, areas not planned for academic use now being used for classrooms despite poor lighting and ventilation.

Showing a growth rate of over 150 students per year, the projected enrollment for the 1963-64 school year will find approximately 1150 students enrolled next September in a school originally constructed for a capacity of 600 students. Despite the two additions to the building since 1952, the growth rate has been explosive in the Lincoln-Way area, requiring another addition.

John Porick, president of the Lincoln-Way Parent-Teacher group, explained the need for beginning another drive to obtain the voter's approval of the high school bond referendum in order to have at least 10 additional classrooms ready for occupancy by next October.

Porick, in explaining the problem confronting the community, pointed out that if the 10 additional classrooms are not ready next fall, it will be necessary for Lincoln-Way to go on a split-shift day in order to handle the 1150 students.

This program now being studied by the board of education and school administrators presents these problems:

- (1.) Best teachers would not stay because of unfavorable working conditions.
- (2.) Difficulty in hiring replacement teachers.
- (3.) Many additional teachers must be hired because present staff members are already teaching full class loads.
- (4.) Extra demands on the educational fund to pay all extra teachers needed for split-shift program.
- (5.) Longer school day, classes beginning at 7 a.m. and ending at 6 p.m.
- (6.) Transportation of students would be curtailed because school district could not afford needed extra busses nor wages of extra drivers.
- (7.) Reduced extra-curricular activities such as music, athletics, speech and clubs.

Porick explained that volunteers from the Oct. 3 meeting will visit local citizens to explain the need for the success of the bond issue and to secure names on petitions. The petitions must represent a minimum of 2,000 signatures before the bond referendum can be held.

The petitioning group has the official approval of the executive council of the Parent-Teacher group. The petitioning committee will also explain that the cost to the average taxpayer will be very low. In many cases, the cost will be between $6 - $9 per year added tax according to the announcement. This cost is to include construction of the addition as well as the furniture (desks, chairs, etc.) and equipment needed for the new addition.

Don Nepote, New Lenox businessman, pointed out in his speech to the group that new construction in any community will mean greater circulation of money in that community.

Kurt Fredin, president of Lincoln-Way student council, presented the student's viewpoint and pointed out that:

- (1.) The crowded hall and classroom situations are certainly not conducive to good education.
- (2.) There will have to be limitations on the selection of courses as a result of double shifts. Students could not have a full range of courses or choice of schedules.
- (3.) Extra-curricular activities - teams, music, clubs, etc. will necessarily be curtailed.

Rock Island Has Birthday

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company will be 110 years old on Oct. 10. On October 10, 1852, the first train chugged over the newly laid 57-pound iron rails between Chicago and Joliet, a distance of 40 miles.

This was the first Rocket train of the Rock Island and was made up of six new yellow coaches and was pulled by a tiny American-type (4-4-0), wood burning, steam locomotive. Eighty-five years later the railroad introduced the first of its diesel-powered fleet of Rocket streamliners.

The Rock Island now serves communities in 14 states along nearly 8,000 miles of railroad.

FIRST SESSION of three preliminary try-outs was held at Carl Sandburg high school for the fall play, "Teahouse of the August Moon", which will have a cast of 29 people and one goat.

Play will go before the footlights Nov. 16 and 17 under the direction of Sarah R. Stephens.

Homecoming Events Mark Week At L-W

Homecoming Week is currently underway at Lincoln-Way high school, marking the ninth annual celebration of one of the highlights of the school year.

Topping off the colorful event will be the coronation of the Homecoming Queen at a special coronation assembly Friday at the school. Saturday afternoon, the Knights will clash with Carl Sandburg on the Lincoln-Way field in the traditional homecoming grid game.

Annual Homecoming Dance will be held Saturday evening in the school gymnasium from 8:30 to 11:30 to music provided by the Tri K's.

Preliminary queen and her court elections were held Monday at the school as students also observed "dress-up day". Honor Football Day was held Tuesday. At a special morning assembly, the queen candidates selected in Monday's voting were introduced to the student body. The 1962-63 Mr. Touchdown was also announced.

Final queen and court elections were held Wednesday. Results of the election will remain secret until the coronation assembly Friday. Wednesday was also designated "Sport Day".

The 1962 Homecoming Queen and her court will be presented 10 a.m. this morning at the special assembly. The Queen will reign over the main events of Homecoming Friday and Saturday. Friday will be Red and Black Day with the majority of the student body wearing these two colors.

Says She And Friend Found Tax Bobble

To herself and Mrs. Robert Fuley should go the credit of discovering that eight property owners who should be paying taxes to the Weitendorf school district, No 154 are paying same to the Mokena district, No. 159, Mrs. Grodon Bulow declared last week. They made the discovery months ago, Mrs. Bulow said. No public mention was made of it, however, until a week ago when George Carlisle, a member of the Weitendorf district disclosed the fact.

A second petition asking detachment from Weitendorf district and attachment to the Mokena district has been submitted to County Superintendent Verne E. Crackel, in his capacity of secretary of the Will county board of school trustees.

Before filing the petition Supt. Crackel is having it checked by Assistant State's Attorney Robert Higgins. The first petition which was filed by Mr. Fuley was dismissed by the trustees because of a technicality, a faulty description of the boundaries.

Since the petition was dismissed before a hearing was conducted Supt. Crackel believes that a new petition can be filed anytime and without being required to wait a year, but he wants to be sure and so is having Higgins check the matter.

This time Mr. Fuley had an attorney prepare the petition. He claims to have a sufficient number of signatures. If the petition is granted the persons effected till pay higher taxes. The 1961 rate in the Weitendorf district was 67 cents as compared to $1.23 per $100 of equalized assessed valuation or 56 cents per hundred.

Death Claims N.Lenox Man

Last rites for Robert Vanderob, 50, late of 159 Oakview drive, New Lenox, were held there Tuesday, Oct. 9, from the Baskerville chapel, Lincoln highway and Roberts, at 8:30 o'clock to St. Jude's church at 9.

Mr. Vanderob, a clerk for the Rock Island railroad, for many years, was born in Blue Island and for the past eight years had been a resident of New Lenox. He died last Friday, Oct. 5, in Silver Cross hospital, Joliet. He was a member of the New Lenox Sportsmen's club and the Blue Island lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose.

Besides his wife, Lucille, Mr. Vanderob is survived by a son, Dennis, of New Lenox, and three sisters, Mrs. Marshall Anderson, Tucson, Ariz., Mrs. Miland Reynolds, of Sacramento, Calif., and Mrs. Peter Hilp of Walkerton, Ind.
